

CONCLUSION

The CC2ST Master Plan reflects the culmination of significant public input and agency coordination. The project represents an opportunity for the CRTPA to provide alternate forms of transportation, with recreational opportunities, based on public needs and desires. The proposed CC2ST segments create a network of shared-use paths throughout Leon and Wakulla counties that reflect input from the public, local and state agencies, data collection, and analysis. This Master Plan is the first phase in developing a significant network of trails that will provide new transportation opportunities, enhance quality of life in the capital area, and economic development to the region.
